

Latisse™: A prescription I like to buy!

For as long as I can remember, I've always had naturally long eyelashes. Most people would say it's a great thing but the problem was how thin and spacey they were!

I've always had to use false eyelashes. There were many things I disliked about the process. They are difficult to apply, they do not look natural, and they only last an evening at the most. It seemed like the only way to achieve the look I desired...and then I started using Latisse™.

Latisse™ is a FDA approved solution which increases growth production of eyelashes. On top of giving you incredibly long eyelashes, it also makes them darker, thicker and more full. Latisse™ affects the growth phase of your eyelash cycle. It makes the stage longer and increases the amount of hairs that are typically suppose to grow. Users of Latisse™ usually see significant results in 2 months. I noticed my results in less than 6 weeks.

My eyelashes are incredible. They are finally thick and full and even longer than they were before! It is SO easy to use. Latisse™ only needs to be applied to your upper eyelid. It's best to do it at night before bed, on a clean face.

But all good things cannot last. Latisse™ is not a permanent treatment. The product itself should last roughly a month. Your results will last the same amount of time as an eyelash cycle, which is typically 5 months. When your eyelash cycle is complete, your lashes will return to their previous appearance. To continue your results, we recommend beginning another prescription of Latisse™.

Latisse™ is dispensed here at the Institute of Aesthetic Surgery. Considering it is a prescription, a consent form must be completed upon purchasing. If you would like to monitor your results, please feel free to request before and after photos to be taken.
